Just Let Me Do It launches commercial maintenance and repair service franchise opportunity

The fast-growing commercial handyman services company to open franchises in markets across the U.S.

Charlotte, NC – Just Let Me Do It founders, Curtis and Colleen Pyle, announced today that the company has launched a franchise opportunity aimed at hands-on construction and repair specialists interested in owning their own commercial handyman services business.

Just Let Me Do It, a commercial-only repair and maintenance company, plans to develop and market the franchise opportunity using an aggressive, tiered growth strategy throughout 2017, followed by a nation-wide rollout in early 2018.

Colleen said she is excited about launching the Just Let Me Do It franchise by partnering with NEXT Franchise Systems, a franchise development and consulting company. "We're one of the only companies out there that specializes in facility work, and we've been tremendously successful in the Charlotte and Scottsdale, Arizona markets." said Colleen. "By teaming with NEXT, we know our franchise company is ready to grow immediately."

Dale Waite, Managing Partner at NEXT, said the company partners exclusively with small businesses that have shown "remarkable, sustainable" success and are primed to become successful franchisors from the beginning.

"We looked at Just Let Me Do It, and we saw a business model doing amazing numbers, an operation that was streamlined and easy to duplicate, and an owner who truly has a passion for what she's doing." said Dale. "Their commercial services franchise has unlimited potential for growth, and we couldn't be more excited to work with Curtis, Colleen and her team."

Curtis said Just Let Me Do it will grow regionally at first, with nationwide expansion plans for 2018. "This year, we want to grow organically from our regional bases in North Carolina and Arizona, but by the end of the year, or early 2018, we hope to have franchises nationwide," said Curtis.
